12 Persons Die As Tornado Hits in Kansas

By HUELL WARREN and FRANK TIFFANY

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP) — A tornado devastated 40 square blocks of a modest new residential area of El Dorado late Tuesday.

At least 12 persons were killed and 49 injured.

LT. Col. W. W. Goodwin of the National Guard, in charge of the searching operations, said other bodies might be found in the rubble.

The commander of the Kansas Turnpike Highway patrol unit, Maj. Lloyd S. Vincent, said his men were unable to account for the occupants of three automobiles which the twister apparently swept off the toll highway at the northeast edge of El Dorado.

Searchers found a 13th body today, identified as that of Miss Bessie Dine, 48. She was found in the rubble of her home.

One of those who looked through the ruins of a demolished house was Mrs. Charles W. Wheeler.

Mrs. Wheeler and her two daughters, Shirley 18, and Sharon 17, took refuge in the basement along with two neighbor women and their young children.

"We huddled in the northwest corner of the neighbor's basement," she said. "It didn't rain. It got awfully still. I went up to the front porch to see what was happening. I could see the funnel heading our way. I hurried back down the steps to the basement and suddenly the house was all gone. It sounded like the cracking of trees."

None of the seven was even scratched.

While doctors worked feverishly by the feeble light of candles and flashlights at El Dorado's only hospital, National Guard troops from nearby Augusta and El Dorado were searching for bodies.

Just Dig Those Crazy Hats

LILAC GARDEN CLUB held its annual hat festival this morning and the ladies really dug up a few. Each member makes a hat from just about anything and the winners are awarded prizes.

TOP PHOTO: First prize went to Mrs. A. C. Ball, right, whose hat was made of Day Lilies — each petal pulled from the flower and overlapping on a sailor form. The band is made of foliage blades that ends in a bow in front.

Second prize went to Mrs. Jim Cole. Her hat is made of shredded coccinellid, dyed with food coloring and glued on a sailor form. It is finished with a gladiolus blade band. Underneath the brim is a trim of gardenias.

Teddy Jones to Speak at Philadelphia

Teddy Jones, Hope office manager, of the Arkansas State Employment Security Division, has been selected as a speaker for the 45th annual meeting of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security scheduled June 16-20, in Philadelphia.

Mr. Jones will be a participant in the meeting's workshop panel on the subject of Local Office Management. J. L. Bland, Administrator of the Arkansas Agency will serve as the Technical Consultant to the workshop.

The panel, as announced by Hendrix Nobel, of Detroit national program chairman, in addition to Jones and Bland, will consist of Johnathan Bliss, Miami, Florida Employment Service Manager; Maxine Fraser Manager of Sacramento, California and Ruth Bray, a manager of the Oregon agency at North Bend, Oregon.

The theme of the Philadelphia meeting will be "Employment Security — Force in World Economy." The IAPES is a personnel development group for persons engaged in unemployment insurance, public employment service and related work in the United States, Canada, and other countries.

The meeting will be attended by Chicago representatives from all parts of the United States, Alaska, Canada, Guam, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Japan, and other countries according to information released by the program committee.

This will be Mr. Jones' second appearance before such a national meeting having appeared on a similar meeting at Asheville, N. C. in 1954.

Travis Mathis Announces for Prosecutor

Prosecuting Attorney Travis Mathis today authorized the Star to announce his candidacy for Prosecuting Attorney. He issued the following statement:

"In making my formal announcement for re-election as your Prosecuting Attorney I would like to state that I am doing so solely upon the basis of my qualifications and my record as your prosecuting Attorney.

"In order for you to consider my qualifications, it is necessary that you know something of my background. As many of you know, I was reared near Oklahoma in Clark County. I am a graduate of Oklahoma High School, Henderson State State Teachers College and the University of Arkansas School of Law. I was admitted to practice law in 1949.

"In World War II, I served as an enlisted man with the 9th Infantry Division, earning the Purple Heart, Combat Infantry Badge and three stars. I was captured in the Battle of the Bulge and spent 4 1/2 months as a prisoner of war.

Charges Filed in Two Accidents

Two automobile accidents were investigated by City Police here yesterday. About 4 p.m. an auto driven by Mrs. W. M. Sparks and a pickup driven by Floyd Coopwood of Prescott, collided at Third and Hervey. Fender damage resulted to both vehicles. Officers charged Coopwood with running a red light.

About 8:15 p.m. Tuesday an auto driven by Bernice Lee English hit into an auto driven by Mrs. James Burke at Third and Walnut with minor damage resulting. City Police charged English with following two close.

Declares West Too Powerful Now To Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan described the West's military power today as so great and well organized that "no armed aggression against us is likely."

Macmillan made the statement in a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon after two days of informal talks with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

He said the talks were "a full and frank discussion, in the honest sense of the words."

"Anglo-American understanding and friendship stand today at a very high level," he said. "It is a fruitful partnership for the world no less than for ourselves."

While Macmillan emphasized that "our military defenses are indeed in good shape," he added: "But I wonder if we are equally well equipped, and organized to meet the challenge of Soviet propaganda, subversion and economic penetration, now gaining volume and momentum."

"That is one of the problems the President and I have been talking about during the last few days."

Macmillan said he and the American leaders discussed "most of the great issues of the day." "I think that on both sides we felt gratified and heartened by the extent to which our views and assessments coincided," Macmillan said.

He scheduled a final goodbye call session with reporters. He leaves for Canada tonight.

Diplomatic sources had expressed opinion earlier that Eisenhower and Macmillan apparently were in a conciliatory mood to seek stepped-up Western aid to underdeveloped countries. They said decisions on exactly how to extend the aid probably would be left to experts from the United States, Britain and other Western nations.

Hot Springs Vet To Get Purple Heart

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Monday night a Hot Springs veteran will get a Purple Heart for a wound suffered in combat in France more than 40 years ago.

William Maxwell was wounded in the right arm March 11, 1918, during a German artillery barrage near Lorraine, France. For some reason, the Army failed to award him a Purple Heart at the time.

Recently the military authorities at Washington noticed the error while checking Maxwell's records. The long-delayed paper work was accomplished and the veteran was notified that he was eligible for a medal.

The decoration will be presented in ceremonies at the American Legion Hall here.

Maxwell served with the 42nd Infantry Division in World War I.

Release of Army Men Depends on U.S. Actions

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany today promised quick release of nine U.S. Army men and their helicopter if the United States acts in a "normal and reasonable manner."

The statement, an editorial in the East German communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland, did not specify what the Communists would consider "normal and reasonable."

The conciliatory editorial, which carries the weight of an official pronouncement, appeared after Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference the United States would negotiate if necessary with the East Germans for release of the eight Army officers and one sergeant whose helicopter strayed into East Germany last Saturday and ran out of gas.

"The Red" newspaper conceded that the helicopter might have gotten over East Germany, accidentally, and said the men in the plane had behaved correctly after landing.

"But violation of the air space of the (East) German Democratic Republic remains," the editorial continued.

"Previously the Western Allies have insisted on dealing only with the Soviets as the occupiers of East Germany, contending that the East German government is an illegal regime which they do not recognize."

Another conciliatory move, the East German Ministry of Defense repudiated a suggestion by its army newspaper Volksarmee that the Americans might be tried as spies. The ministry said the editor of the paper had been disciplined for his "wrong and misleading" suggestion, and that the men were guilty only of violating East German air space.

Senate Okays Jobless Pay Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today quickly passed without objection a bill appropriating $665,700,000 to finance emergency extension of unemployment compensation payments.

The measure was passed by the House two days ago, but now goes back there because of an unrelated amendment tacked on by the Senate.

The amendment, requested by the administration, provides an extra 20 million dollars for the revolving loan fund of the Small Business Administration which reported it was running out of money.

The appropriation for unemployment benefits is the full amount asked by President Eisenhower. It finances recent legislation authorizing advances to the states to extend the duration of payments by 50 per cent.

State participation in the emergency program is optional. The appropriation is based on the assumption that all of the states will take part.

Homecoming Sunday at Old Harmony

Annual Homecoming services will be held at Old Harmony Church near Sutton Sunday June 15 with preaching at 11 a.m. and dinner on the ground at noon. Ivy Mitchell will be in charge of singing during the afternoon.

Students requiring transcripts for college are urged to notify the High School now if they want to be sure they go out on time. Call the school office and tell them the college you are to attend this fall.

Intermediate M.Y.F. of First Methodist Church plans a "Hobo" day, Saturday June 14 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Contact the church if you have work for the M.Y.F. to do — they'll do practically anything.

Rufus H. Marjandale, Olen Lewis, Harry Hawthorne, Raymond Jones and Royce Weisenberger have been issued certificates of personal appreciation from John S. Gleason Jr., National American Legion Commander and Claude Carpenter Jr., the Arkansas Commander for their activity in Legion work.

William L. Conway, nephew of Mrs. A. C. Hollaway, will graduate June 13 from the International division of Sophia University of Tokyo, Japan. Bill was born and raised here.

Extension of American Reciprocal Trade Plan Passed by the House

Adams' Hotel Bill Hearing Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today insinuations that Bernard Goldfine got preferred treatment from federal agencies because of friendship with Sherman Adams "will be proved completely false."

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the matter will be quickly disposed of when Adams, chief aide to President Eisenhower, returns to Washington from a New England fishing trip.

Hagerty added that Adams has the complete confidence of the President.

Hagerty refused to discuss evidence produced by House investigators Tuesday that Goldfine, a Boston industrialist, paid almost $2,000 in hotel bills over the last four years for Adams.

Hagerty brought up the subject at a news conference.

He declined to provide any information on the expected time of Adams' return, or to say what form Adams' rebuttal might take.

House investigators, after developing Tuesday testimony that Goldfine had paid the hotel bills, put off further inquiry until next week.

It is trying to get access to Goldfine's records.

Still undetermined in the public record was:

1. Whether Goldfine got favored federal treatment through close personal friendship with Adams, as alleged; or

2. Whether Adams merely enjoyed Goldfine's hospitality as an old friend without offering any special treatment for Goldfine's troubled business enterprises.

That is the picture presented by Roger Robb, a Goldfine attorney.

Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the subcommittee checking whether federal regulatory agencies were independent as the law intends, gave the Goldfine interests until next Tuesday to produce records on a broad range of transactions.

Finkbeiner Sound Theme of Economy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas gubernatorial candidate Chris Finkbeiner sounded a theme of economy in government as he made his second statewide television speech last night.

"The state government can be run on 25 per cent less money," he declared, "and that I will do."

He pledged a tax reduction and promised he could maintain teachers' salaries without a three per cent sales tax.

Finkbeiner did not mention by name any of his three opponents for the Democratic nomination.

His 30-minute filmed speech was carried by stations in Little Rock, Fort Smith, El Dorado, Texarkana and Memphis.

Lightning Strikes Home, Boy Injured

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A 10-year-old Lavenia, Ark., boy was injured today when a bolt of lightning struck his farm home during a thunderstorm.

James Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Patterson, was talking on the telephone when the bolt hit the telephone wire and came into the house through the instrument.

The youth's father said some nearby berry pickers saw the boy stumble from the house, climb to a pickup truck and slump over unconscious.

His condition was listed as good.

No Recession For Those Working

By SY RAMSEY

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — To the man who has a job there is no recession, an Arkansas employment official said today. "To the man without a job we're in a depression."

The latest figures show that in Arkansas nearly 62,000 persons are without jobs — "about 20,000 more than the corresponding period last year."

Business and industrial leaders say the statistics are somewhat misleading — giving the impression unemployment is widespread. Labor leaders contend the unemployment situation actually is worse.

Yet reports from the state judicial system generally are picking up, savings accounts are increasing, the farm picture is hopeful and all that remains is to wipe out the bogeyman notion about a recession.

"I don't think there is any recession in Arkansas that could be compared to industrial states in the north," said Frank Cantrell, managing director of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce. "It's mainly psychological here."

Odell Smith, president of the Arkansas State Federated Labor Council, sees it differently.

Jesse Hutson, 48, Dies Today in Beaumont, Texas

Jesse Hutson, aged 48, died early today in Baptist Hospital at Beaumont, Texas. He was a resident of Hope for many years.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Jone Arrington Hutson, a daughter, Mrs. Tommy Gray of Conway, his mother, Mrs. Claudia Hutson of Hope; four brothers, S. A. Hutson of Ft. Smith, Leonard and Paul Hutson of Houston and George Hutson of Waco, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. Charleen Goodell of Houston, Mrs. Lucille Malone of Falls Church, Va. and Mrs. Alice Kate Baker of Hope.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Herndon-Cornelius Chapel by Rev. John McLaughlin. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius will be in Marlbrook Cemetery.

Active pallbearers: Jimmy Cook, Charlie Fricks of Ft. Smith, Webb Lascier Jr., Woodard Breed, Howard Houston and Bud Collier.

Final Rites for Lanning Victim

Funeral services for John T. Beck, 20, Spring Hill, killed in a logging accident Monday, were held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Spring Hill Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, Tina Ann, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Beck near Rosston; three brothers, Jack of U.S. Army, Lois David and Doug, Jas Beck of Rosston; three sisters, Mrs. Ross Jester of Waco, Tex.; Mrs. Clyde Roach of Prescott and Mrs. Janette Polindexter of Rosston.

Hit by Auto, Youth Dies From Injuries

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 4-year-old North Little Rock boy died at a hospital here today of injuries suffered when he was hit by an automobile yesterday.

Passage Is a Big Victory for Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, handing President Eisenhower a major legislative victory today passed and sent to the Senate a bill continuing the reciprocal trade program for another five years.

In doing so it crushed any attempt to limit the program to two years and reassert the President's trade and tariff making authority, and one to send the whole thing back to a committee pigeonhole.

First, it defeated 234-147 a substitute proposal which would have stripped the President of much of his tariff-making authority.

They it proceeded to vote down a move to send his proposal for a five-year extension of the reciprocal trade program back to a committee pigeonhole.

The vote represented a hard-won victory for the President in the first critical test on his demands for a free hand to continue the 21-year-old reciprocal trade program another five years beyond June 30.

With most Democrats swinging behind the President, the House defeated a substitute proposal authored by Rep. Richard M. Simpson (D-Ta).

It would have limited extension of the trade agreements act to two years, and vested in the Tariff Commission and Congress the President's existing authority to ignore commission recommendations for duty increases where domestic industry faces injury.

In place to the House Tuesday, Eisenhower called for defeat of the Simpson proposal. He maintained it is essential for the President to remain authority over tariff decisions "in the best interests of the United States."

House leaders teamed solidly behind Eisenhower.

ALC Would Eliminate Intangible Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A committee of the Arkansas Legislative Council went on record yesterday for eliminating the state's intangible property tax.

The Revenue and Taxation Committee voted to ask the Council to submit to the Legislature a constitutional amendment abolishing the tax.

The committee also voted to seek revisions in the personal property tax law.

Rep. Joel Y. Ledbetter of Phillips County said it was unreasonable to assess taxes on intangible property, such as stocks and bonds, at the same rate as on real property, such as land.

The present law requires that, he said.

Ledbetter suggested lowering the tax rate on personal property or reducing it to certain items. He said no one ever assesses all his personal property because he couldn't afford to.

The legislator said a constitutional amendment would be necessary to a complete change because the state Constitution requires that real, personal and intangible property tax rates be the same.

Publisher at Searcy Dies

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — M. R. Jones Jr., publisher of the Searcy Daily Citizen and a member of the state Board of Education, suffered a heart attack Monday.

He is at Hawkins Clinic here. Jones, who is 58, is a former president of the Arkansas Press Assn.

A secretary is a stenographer who has a good rock guitar to sell.

"We are all aware of the increase in the number of crimes committed by juvenile offenders to every community. Realizing that it is a community problem, I have organized advisory boards on juvenile problems in three of the five counties in this judicial district and plan to organize them in the other two counties as soon as possible.

"Each board is composed of outstanding citizens who are experienced in dealing with our young people and who are interested in their welfare as well as the welfare of the community. One of their functions is to review reports submitted to them by the Prosecuting Attorney's office, Welfare office, Welfare Agencies that have investigated the home situation of the offender and the arresting officers in each case involving a teen-ager offender. At each regular meeting, the Board considers each case and makes recommendations as to what disposition should be made of it. This plan has been highly praised by juvenile authorities over the state as the most progressive step yet taken in this most important field.

"I am the only candidate in this campaign with actual experience as your Prosecuting Attorney. Because of this experience, I am thoroughly familiar with the duties and responsibilities of this office. Certainly I am better qualified to serve you than when I was first elected to this office and am in a position to serve you even better in the future.

"This is a young man's job. The average age of your prosecuting attorneys for the last 36 years has been 33 years and 8 months when they were elected to this office. I am the only candidate in this race under 40 years of age.

"If you see fit to re-elect me to this office, I pledge that I will continue to serve you fairly, impartially and efficiently and honestly I will continue my work in combating our juvenile problems by working with and through the advisory boards in each county.

"Due to the fact that this is a large district composed of five counties, it will be impossible for me to visit each of you personally but I would like to take this opportunity to solicit your careful consideration of my candidacy in this campaign. I will deeply appreciate your efforts in my behalf."

12 Persons Die

radio's own unit were called to help civilian officers patrol the streets.

Looters swarmed into the stricken area as soon as darkness fell. At least three persons were arrested for rifling the debris.

As the tornado passed on its way, a reporter said, "A heavy black cloud hung to the eastern horizon. Over the city there was a fleecy cloud, white and beautiful.

"I looked like a shroud."

The tornado was the second disastrous storm of the month. A twister in northwest Wisconsin killed 28 persons and seriously injured 117 June 4.

It was 3:45 p.m. when the tornado hit El Dorado. Trooper Bob Lemoir of the Kansas highway patrol, on duty seven miles south of the city, saw it first.

"I followed it to El Dorado as fast as I could drive," he said. "I wanted the El Dorado police to radio that the storm was coming. I don't imagine I gave them a five-minute advance warning if I gave them that much."

Another witness, Nancy Kerschner, a secretary employed at radio station KBTQ, saw the tornado strike the city. She said: "It hit the Oil Hill district southwest of town, then skipped into the thickly populated residential section. I didn't realize at first that it was a tornado because it was a pale gray color instead of the black I had been told tornadoes always looked like."

A temporary morgue was set up in the 4-H Club's building. There lay 11 bodies. The other victims died in the hospital.

Macmillan, Ike Agree on Foreign Aid

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain apparently agree that Western nations must make more money available to underdeveloped countries.

Diplomats said that Eisenhower and Macmillan, winding up three days of talks today, would leave it to experts to figure out what should be done.

They are reported to have considered enlarging the operations and capital of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund and possibly forming a new billion-dollar lending agency.

In addition to a final session with Eisenhower, the Prime Minister meets today with Secretary of State Dulles. His schedule also calls for a speech before a National Press Club luncheon.

Macmillan and Dulles, with their group of advisers, met for 2½ hours Tuesday. The State Department announced afterward that they concentrated on economic and financial problems and that no decisions were made.

Some Middle Eastern questions, presumably relating to the growth of Arab nationalism and the activities of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, were also discussed.

Macmillan dined informally with Eisenhower at the White House Tuesday night. Their talk dealt primarily if not entirely with atomic problems, including the possibility of suspending nuclear weapons.

The President has made no final decision on what the U.S. test suspension policy will be after the current tests in the Pacific. It is understood that both Macmillan and he felt it was wise to delay definitive policy action until two situations were clarified.

The first is action by the U.S. Congress on an administration proposal under which the President could share general information on nuclear weapons manufacture with Allied countries qualified to use it. Macmillan has indicated that he would feel justified in halting tests only if Britain could get such information from this country.

The other situation concerns the possibility of getting agreement with the Soviet Union on a system for pooling a test suspension. Eisenhower has proposed that scientific talks on this problem start July 1 at Geneva.

Dulles told a news conference that if the Geneva talks produced a good understanding with the Soviets, that would make it easier to reach an accord for suspending tests. But if the experts were unable to agree, he added, such an accord would almost automatically become impossible.

In 1943, the Arkansas legislature established a system of common schools providing for a board of three trustees in each township.

Ike Favors More Control in Labor Bill

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's advocacy of a more restrictive labor control bill cut a political pattern today that some Republicans found pleasing. Others didn't.

Eisenhower apparently has put the party on record as favoring more drastic action than most Democrats are willing to support to curb the kind of labor abuses exposed by the racket investigations.

The administration is demanding changes in a compromise bill drafted by the Labor Committee under the sponsorship of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

The most immediate effect of Eisenhower's course will be felt in this year's contest for party control of Congress.

The Senate now is scheduled to take up the labor bill Thursday, and perhaps complete it this week. Regardless of whether Congress finally enacts any bill, Republican candidates will be tagged with the contention their party wants more regulation of unions than labor will accept.

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), running for governor of California, and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), seeking reelection, were highly pleased with the position taken by Eisenhower.

Both had fought to include many provisions opposed by labor leaders in an earlier Senate bill to regulate health and pension plans.

Other GOP candidates who have indicated similar views included Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Frank A. Barrett of Wyoming, John D. H. H. of West Virginia, John Williams of Delaware and Arthur V. Watkins of Utah. More in the middle of the road were GOP Sens. Charles E. Potter of Michigan, William A. Fullilove of Connecticut, Chapman Rev. of West Virginia and Elward J. Thye of Minnesota.

Four GOP candidates who aligned themselves against Knowland included GOP Sens. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, William Langer of North Dakota, George W. Malone of Nevada and Frederick G. Payne of Maine.

Goldwater told reporters he regards Republican support for a more comprehensive bill as "the only issue we have in this campaign."

318,250 in State Got Surplus Food

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams today said that 318,250 persons received surplus commodities in May to set an all-time record for Arkansas.

The previous high was 296,000 persons in March, 1950.

Adams said he believed the May figure will prove to be the peak. Indications during the first part of June were that a leveling off had begun, he said.

He noted that distribution reached a low figure of 133,000 last summer after farming operations got into full swing.

Adams said that generally the largest distribution was in the Delta counties, where big plantations are situated.

Seventy of the state's 75 counties participated in the program. Ashley County withdrew in May because its economic picture was brightened by available employment in pulp wood and wood products plants, Adams said.

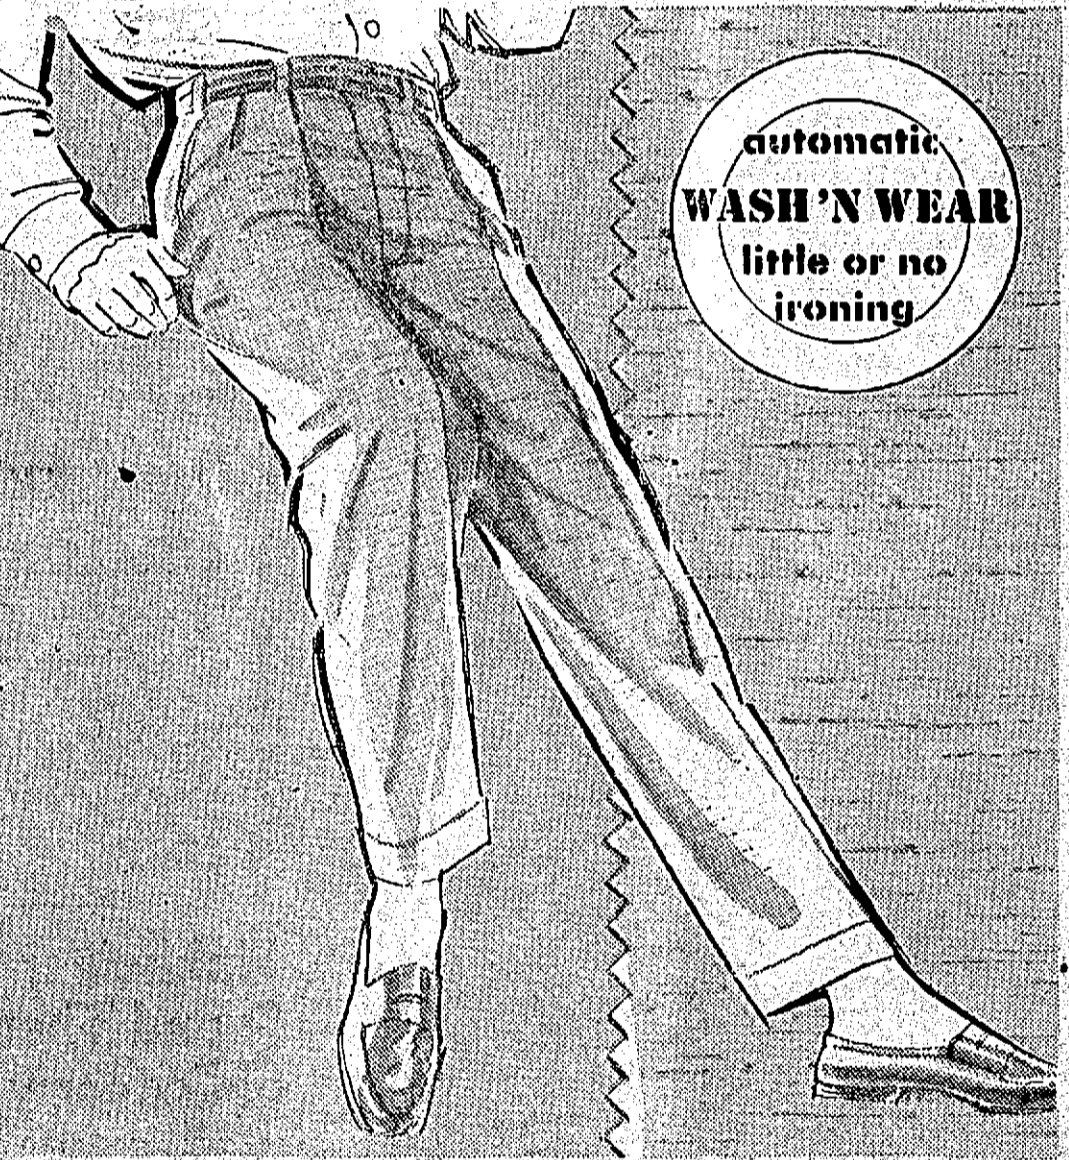

Other non-participating counties were Carroll, Dallas, Lonoke and Benton.

Macmillan Calls for Work To Peace

BALTIMORE (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called today for a start toward building world peace through a "little by little" approach to discarding all big weapons—atomic and others.

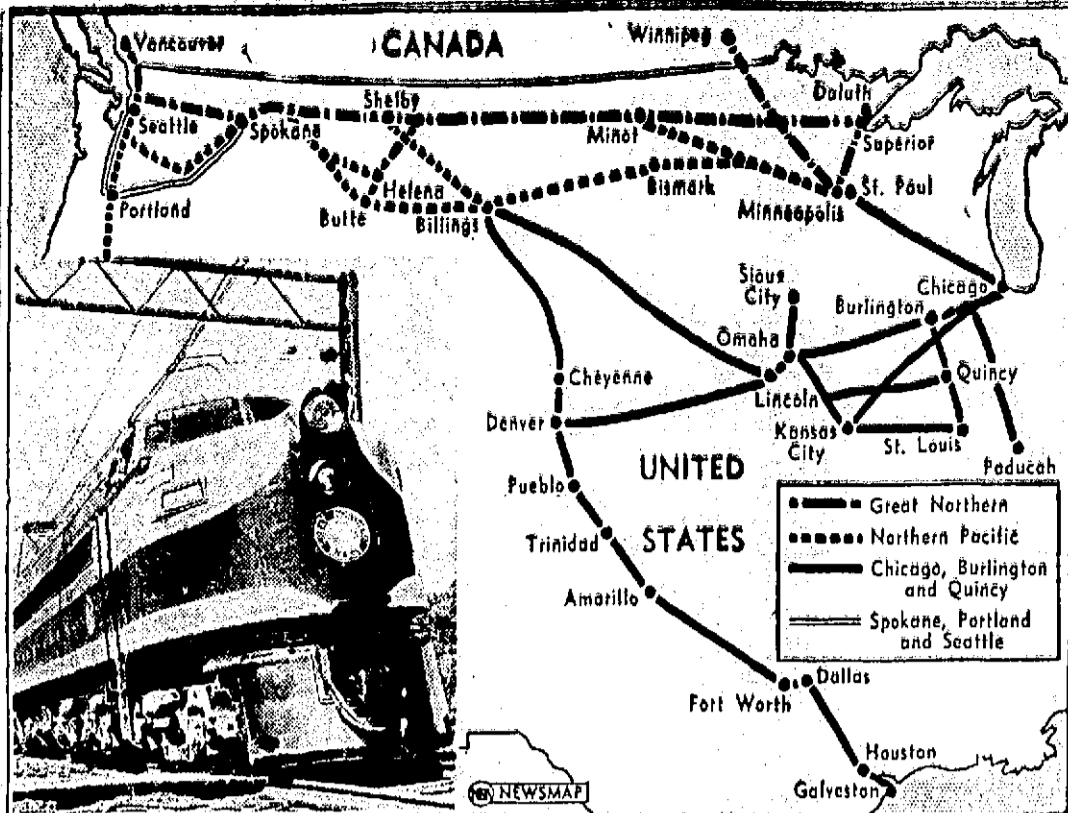

Macmillan's speech was prepared at commencement exercises at Johns Hopkins University, where President Eisenhower was to introduce him as "a great free world leader." Both were given honorary degrees by the school.

Macmillan said the Western world alliance has served its purpose well and must be continued as a shield against Communist aggression.

"But I am not without hope," he said, "that we may succeed little by little, if not all at once, in making some progress toward the relaxation of tensions in the world."

Macmillan said it would be foolish to expect any summit meeting to bridge the gap between East and West.

He added, however, that "if conditions are favorable and if the will is there they might make, first, a little progress here, and then a little there and so bring us out of a condition of stalemate into one of negotiation."

MERGING ROADS—The Great Northern Railway may merge with three other railroads, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Northern Pacific Railway and the Spokane, Portland and Seattle, to form the nation's longest and second-richest rail line. John M. Budd, president of Great Northern, said that the merger plans should go before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington before the end of the year. The proposed network (see Newsmap) stretches from Illinois to California and from North Dakota to Texas. It would have 27,000 miles of track in 18 states. This is larger than the track mileage of any U.S. company now operating. The merged road would also have track in two Canadian provinces, Manitoba and British Columbia.

But he said it can be done "only if both sides are willing. We on our side certainly are willing."

Macmillan said both the United States and Britain have rightly held that a beginning can be made in a controlled disarmament of both nuclear and conventional weapons.

"Control is really the essence," he said.

"Once both sides agree to experiment in this we shall have really made a start. We will have established a beginning of confidence. And confidence means peace."

As he did in an address Sunday at De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., Macmillan urged low-

CHAPTER 32

It took us 10 minutes to reach the airport. I had her park the car some distance from the terminal. Then we got out and walked over. I glanced at the board. There was a plane leaving for Miami in 20 minutes. I left Juana standing and went over and bought a ticket. I went back and gave it to her.

"Get on that plane," I said. "But—but my clothes..."

"You want clothes or you want to live?" I asked. "When you land in Miami, you'll be arrested because you don't have the proper paper. I can't do anything to-night, but I'll get on the phone the first thing in the morning and get someone to try to help you. But after that you'll be on your own."

I waited until I saw the plane take off. Then I went back and found a phone booth. I dialed the number that Luis had given me. He answered, his voice heavy with sleep.

"Pick me up at the airport as quickly as you can," I told him. I sat down on one of the benches and waited. It was another 20 minutes before Luis arrived.

"The hotel first," I said. When we reached the hotel, I went upstairs while Luis waited. I got out an ampule of Pentanol and dissolved it in the distilled water. Then I filled the hypodermic, wrapped it in a handkerchief and put it in my pocket. I went back down stairs.

"To the shack," I told Luis. Again I had him wait in the car when we reached the shack. I unlocked the door and went in. Carnicero was conscious. I could hear him thrashing around. I crouched down beside him and used my knife to cut the coat and shirt sleeves. I got out the hypodermic and struck a match so I could see a vein. I pushed the needle in and pressed on the plunger. I could see Carnicero's eyes bulging with fear.

When the hypodermic was empty, I wrapped it up again and put it back in my pocket. I went out and locked the door. I climbed in beside Luis. "Now, to the Cafe Bendito," I said.

From the bartender, after some persuasion, I learned that Elena Sanjurjo lived at 43 Avenida Quixote. I had Luis drive me there.

I got out and went to the front door of the house. I knocked on the door. "There was no answer. I knocked louder and kept it up. After a while there was a faint sound from inside."

"Who is there?" she asked. "Milo March," I said.

"What do you want?" she asked. "It is late. I was released from the prison a couple of hours ago."

"I know," I said. "I arranged it. Now, get dressed and pack your suitcase and come on."

"But why?" she asked. "I do not understand."

"Nobody in this place ever understands anything. Just get dressed and packed and get out here."

She finally appeared suitcase "Back to the airport," I told her. We both got in the back seat of the car.

"Back to the airport," I told Luis. "Elena is taking the 8 o'clock plane to New York City."

There was still a lot of time to kill when we got to the airport, so I took her in for coffee. I stayed with her until it was time to board the plane. Then I waited until they rolled the stairs away.

"Now we go to the hotel," I told Luis when I had awakened him in the car.

We drove straight back to the hotel. I told Luis to come up with me. When we got upstairs I got the operator on the phone and told her I wanted to be called at eight.

"You can take one bed and I'll take the other," I told Luis. "We start again at eight in the morning, so there's no point to your going home."

And it seemed to me that I was barely also when I was awakened by the ringing of the phone.

Even Luis began looking more cheerful after his third cup of coffee. But he changed quickly when he saw me start to fill the hypodermic. When it was full, I wrapped it in the handkerchief and put it back in my pocket. Then I took the drawer out of the dresser and removed the Spanish manuscript I had taped there the day I arrived. I wrapped it in a newspaper.

We went down and got into the car. "There is no need to tell me," Luis said. "We drive first to the shack."

We drove up north of the city and stopped at the shack. I went in and gave Carnicero another shot. I had thought about trying to feed him and gave it up. It wouldn't hurt him to go a couple of days without food. I went back to the car and told Luis to take me to his mother's aunt from whom I was going to buy the manuscript.

She lived in a small shack on the other side of the city. She was a tiny little woman with a wrinkled, merry face and I liked her at once. We talked generally for a few minutes. Then I gave her the money and I unwrapped the manuscript and showed her what it was she was selling. Then Luis and I went back to the hotel. I walked through the lobby, holding the manuscript and smiling broadly.

When I got upstairs, I put in a call to the Palace. I went through the usual run of voices until I finally got the last secretary. I told him that I was very important for me to speak to the Generalissimo himself if it was at all possible. He said he'd see.

CHAPTER 33

"Buenos dias, Senor March." It was the dictator himself. "What can I do for you?"

"I just wanted to tell you," I said, "that my mission has been successful."

There was a moment of silence. He hadn't really believed in my manuscript and now I was saying I had it. "It has?" he said finally. "My congratulations."

"I am returning to New York tomorrow," I said, "and I wondered if I could make an appointment for tomorrow morning. I would like to show you the manuscript before I leave and of course I'd like to see your private museum which you offered to show me."

"Of course," he said. "Come in at 10, Senor March."

"Thank you, Generalissimo," I said. I hung up and grinned to myself. Next I called the airport and made a reservation for noon the following day just in case anyone checked up on me. Then I called the Palace again and asked for Raimundo Perrola.

"How are you, Mr. March?" he asked. "And how is your lovely employer?"

"Fine," I said. "I wonder if I could run over and see you for a few minutes."

"Certainly," he said. "Come right away."

I went down and had Luis drive me to the Palace.

I went inside and was shown in to Perrola almost immediately.

"It's good to see you again," he said. "How are you progressing?"

"I've found the manuscript," he asked. He looked as startled as he sounded. He also had not believed in it. "I am delighted. Where did you find it?"

"Some little old woman who lives on the edge of the city. She had it in with a lot of junk in an old trunk. She doesn't even know where it came from, but thinks everything in the trunk had belonged to her grandmother. Of course, it'll have to be examined by experts, but I think it's authentic. And in good condition."

"Excellent," he said. "Miss Mellany will be delighted. Have you told her yet?"

"No, I know that she will be grateful for all the help you've given me," I said. "And something occurred to me. You mentioned that you are in New York quite often. Do you expect to be there this coming weekend, or in the near future?"

"I might be," he said. He looked like a small boy who seemed to be in the office.

"Why?"

"Well, I'm going back tomorrow. Miss Mellany will want to celebrate finding the manuscript and I thought if you were going to be there I'd suggest that she invite you out so that she can thank you in person."

"I would like to meet her," he said. He drummed on the desk with his fingers. "I don't see any reason why I shouldn't be there even this weekend."

"Fine. I'll call her then as soon as I get back to the hotel."

"Why not call her from here?" he suggested. He pushed one of the telephones toward me.

Hoping that Merry remembered what I had told her about taking her cues from me, I picked up the receiver and put through the call.

"By the way, what happened to your face?" he asked.

"I'm not sure," I said. "I guess it happened the other night when I ended up in that jail of yours. I told you I thought there was a fight of some sort."

He laughed. "That was quite an experience. The poor chief of police is still going crazy trying to find out what happened. But naturally the policeman who made a mistake like that isn't going to admit it."

The phone rang. I picked it up and answered.

"Hello, Milo," Merry said sleepily. "What's the idea of calling me up at this horrible hour?"

"I've found the Columbus manuscript," I said trying to sound excited.

There was a moment of silence. She had to stop and figure out what the Columbus manuscript was. "Oh, that's wonderful," she said.

"Isn't it?" I said. "I feel pretty sure that it's authentic, but we'll have the experts look at it. I'm coming back tomorrow. Are you still planning on some sort of weekend party?"

"If you'll be here, I will," she said.

"Good. By the way, you're heard of Raimundo Perrola, the Mexican diplomat, haven't you?"

"Oh, yes."

"Well, he has been most helpful. It just happens that he's going to be in New York and I thought you might invite him out for the weekend so that you can thank him personally."

"I might," she said. I could just imagine the face she was making. I knew her opinion of Perrola and all men like him. "Of course, that's a wonderful idea. Invite him, by all means."

"Good," I said. "I'll probably see you tomorrow night. Good-bye." I hung up and looked at Perrola. "You're invited for this weekend."

"Splendid," he said. "I'll tell you what. Instead of taking the commercial airline, why don't you come with me? I fly my own plane, you know, and we can make it even faster than the airline will. Then I always keep a car at Idlewild and I can drive you out to her place."

"I'd like that," I said, which was certainly the understatement of the year.

Negro Jailed for Slaying in East

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—A Negro was arrested here early today in connection with a slaying at Olive Branch, Miss., Sunday.

Jonesboro officers and officers from De Soto County, Miss., said they found Annis Dockery, 33, asleep at the home of relatives.

Dockery waived extradition and was taken to Mississippi immediately.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Otto Johnson of De Soto County said Dockery is charged with murder for the fatal shooting of Lawrence Wright, a Negro, during a baseball game at Olive Branch Sunday.

Sees Another Fine Year For Plastics

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The plastics industry, busily raiding markets once served by metals and other materials, thinks some new plastics and new uses will assure it another year of rising sales.

The Society of the Plastics Industry reports that 1958 sales so far are either keeping pace with 1957 or exceeding last year's figures by as much as 40 per cent in some companies.

Another segment of the industry, plastic pipe, which has seen sales boom from a 1/2 million pounds in 1947 to 58 million pounds in 1957, predicts it will sell 80 million pounds this year for around 50 million dollars.

SPI credits much of the gain in plastic sales to the last two years of research and production progress which are now bearing fruit. The society will put much of this fruit on display in November at an exposition in Chicago.

But part of the gain in use of plastics has been sparked outside

Methodist of North Arkansas to Meet

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—The North Arkansas Methodist Conference opened its 123rd annual meeting here this morning with sessions scheduled to continue through Friday.

Pre-conference meetings were held yesterday by boards, commissions and the bishop's cabinet.

The meeting will end after Bishop Paul E. Martin of Little Rock reads the list of appointments for the conference's 253 preachers.

The Rev. Eugene Slater of Amarillo, Tex., is conference preacher.

Slight Increase in Welfare Grants

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams said yesterday the average old-age assistance grant increased $3.26 last month to $46.18.

The increase fell short of the $4 boost predicted by Adams and Gov. Orval Faubus. They expected the increase as a result of the state's putting up more money for the federal aid program.

Adams said old age claimants increased to 55,902 persons who received $2,551,450.

Total blind persons participating rose to 2,028. They received $103,733.

The industry of late by manufacturer seeking way during the recession to cut costs, both of materials and of production processes, and to bolster retail sales by redesigning old products or introducing new ones.

Here is what some mold manufacturers say about new demand for both new and old products:

Capac Industries, Capac, Mich.: "Increased demand from the automotive industry for molded housings for heaters and duct couplings and heavy demand for plastic packaging and special heavy wall plastic products."

General Industries, Elyria, Ohio: "We are molding plastic parts for a greater number of different industries and in fields we never thought would be the substantial users of plastics they are."

Erie Resistor, Erie, Pa.: "New processes for metallizing plastic are winning important acceptance in appliance and automotive fields."

Newark Die Co., Newark, N.J.: "We have a larger amount of government work for the missile program this year and a considerable pickup in civilian merchandise inquiries."

A. L. Hyde Co., Greenvale, N.J.: "New designs capable of molding highly complex parts at lower cost is increasing dollar volume."

CRACKDOWN ON U.S. CRIME—Newschart details the way the government is running its organized drive against crime. The highest priority in the crackdown, according to Attorney General Rogers, will be given to 100 top racketeers. He did not name them. Head of the "task force" is Milton R. Wessel, a 34-year-old former assistant U.S. attorney in New York, now a special assistant to Rogers. D. Malcolm Anderson, 41, head of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, will exercise general supervision of the "task force." The anti-crime drive is largely the outgrowth of two recent events. One was the convulsion of 63 top mobsters last November in upstate New York. The other is the evidence compiled by the McClellan committee that gangsters and racketeers have wormed their way into some labor unions and business firms.

Ban Elephants But Monkeys Join Pickets

NEW YORK (AP)—Three monkeys joined in a picket line outside City Hall today but police banned two baby elephants.

Five hundred employees of the Bronx Zoo, the Hayden Planetarium and several museums took part in the demonstration to protest the city's salary plan.

"Stop monkeying with our pay," said signs on two monkey cages. The pickets had rented six monkeys and two baby elephants to focus attention on their dispute.

Police said the elephants were banned because they might interfere with traffic.

The picketing, handicapped by rain, ended an hour and 20 minutes after it started.

The demonstration was aimed at the city budget director.

"We're fed up with the circus they've made out of our classifications and pay," said Reese Hammond, a spokesman for the picketers.

The workers are members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. The union has forced closing for the day of the zoo, the planetarium and the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Natural History and the Brooklyn Museum.

The dispute, according to the union, centers on what it calls inequities in the city's career and salary plan.

The union represents 700 city-paid workers employed at the privately operated institutions.

The workers involved are menagerie keepers, mechanics, guards, laborers, truck drivers, technicians and clerical help.

Native Fish Crowd Out The Trout

By DION HENDERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

Here's something a trout fisherman can worry about: Is the reason that some of his favorite fishing holes are empty of trout because of the fact that well-bred hatchery trout get elbowed out of the way by uncouth native fish when the cow line forms in a stream?

Not that trout fishermen don't have enough to worry about already. But the question of how seriously rough fish interfere with the ability of a stream to carry trout—or rather, the ability of trout to be carried—is a matter of dollars and cents.

Particularly in this day of put and take trout stocking, when as a matter of simple economics the ideal situation would see every trout stocked by official agencies wind up eventually in some fisherman's frying pan.

An experiment on this very subject will be undertaken soon on one of Michigan's famed cold water streams. Biologists will put the electric shockers to work on a stretch of water and remove there from all available suckers, chubs, mudders and such.

Then they'll introduce about to same poundage of hatchery trout. Downstream from the cleared stretch will be a control section of the same length, where the coarse fish and trout will remain in competition.

Experimental fishing will continue on both areas, probably for a full year, to see how recovery of trout compares in the restricted cafeteria and the competitive boneyard.

Des Arc Man Heads Training School

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Leon Coker, superintendent of schools at Des Arc, will be coming superintendent of the new State Vocational Training School at Pine Bluff on July 1.

Coker's appointment to the $7,600 a year post was announced yesterday by Arch Ford, state education commissioner.

The school, now under construction, is expected to open next summer. Coker will spend next year planning for the opening, Ford said.

Coker, 45, has been superintendent at Des Arc for nine years.

are you waiting for what I was?

Let me tell you what I saved when I drove a new Plymouth...then bought one!

Just like a lot of other people, I was putting off buying a new car...even though we sure needed one. Then I found out what my Plymouth dealer was offering in the way of low prices and really big trades.

Mister, when I saw what I saved I knew there was no use putting off any longer! Got more for my old car than I believed possible. (Plymouth dealers need used cars and can sell all they get!) Got a terrifically low price on the new Plymouth...and choice of models besides...hard tops, sedans, convertibles, wagons.

And I saved a cool $140 on the ride alone! Plymouth's top-luxury ride, Torsion-Aire Ride, is standard at no extra cost, while you have to pay up to $140 for the top ride of competing "low-price" cars.

What's more, I got the car that proved it can save me gasoline, by winning the 1958 Motor Economy Run. A car with Silver Dart Styling that is so far ahead right now it will still be worth more when I trade. With the kind of easy handling that makes every minute of driving a down-right thrill! The slapping to stand up without nagging adjustments and big repairs...a car as much better built as it is better looking!

White Sox Have Felt the Loss of Minoso

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You can lick off a number of reasons to explain why the Chicago White Sox, who finished second last season, are barely rarer of the American League cellar at the moment. But the No. 1 answer is the guy playing left field for Cleveland.

Without Minnie Minoso, who led Chicago with 103 runs batted in last season, the White Sox have left 339 runners stranded (an average of eight a game) while scoring only 187. Sherm Lollar is the top RBI man with 28.

A year ago, when they led the league by four games, the White Sox had scored 209, with 348 left on base and Minoso batting in 36.

Minoso hasn't been a ball of fire at Cleveland but he's leading the club with 29 RBIs.

He added a pair Tuesday night, one with his eighth homer, as Cleveland beat Baltimore 10-2 and moved into fourth place. The White Sox left 10 on base in a two-night doubleheader split at Washington, winning 5-4 before a 5-2 defeat.

Other scheduled games were rained out.

In the National League, Pittsburgh defeated San Francisco 3-4, but the Giants retained a .003 percentage point lead over Milwaukee, better, 9-6 by the Chicago Cubs. Philadelphia kept Los Angeles in the cellar, beating the Dodgers 3-2.

A pair of four-run rallies decided things at Washington. The Senators, who got a quick lead on Roy Stivers' 11th homer, cracked a 1-1 tie with four in the ninth against Jim Wilson (5-5). Julio Becquer's pinch single drove in one, winner Hal Griggs (3-2) brought in another on a sacrifice fly, and Herbie Plews counted two with a double. Jim Landis and Earl Baley homered for the Sox runs.

The Sox bagged the opener with four in the seventh on Billy Goodman's two-out, bad-hop single. Nellie Fox's RBI single and Smith's two-run fly ball double. Ray Moore (3-1) gave up only three hits in his six innings, but slipped away ace Billy Pierce had to hustle in as the third White Sox reliever to end a threat in the ninth. Truman Cleveland lost it in relief of Camilo Pascual.

Three Games Tonight; Three On Thursday

Last night at K-park the Hope Basket Co. team defeated the First National nine 5 to 2 and in the second contest Hope Builders scored an 8 to 3 decision over Hope Auto.

Tonight three games are scheduled.

Moore Bros. vs Citizens Bank — Rogers & McLeod.

Hope Star vs Anthony — Gough and Sevier.

Thursday Night

Pop Kola vs CBC — Sevier & Henley.

Coleman vs Owens — Taylor & McDowell.

Citizens Bank vs Anthony — Bruick & Griffin.

Giardello to Fight German Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Middleweight Joe Giardello of Philadelphia and Fran Sina of Germany will have it out with each other tonight in a most uncommon setting—the swank Shoreham Terrace.

A high society audience will watch from tables, played amid umbrellas, trees, pelicans and garlands.

This 10-round enterprise of promotion, Goldie Ahearn and the International Boxing Club will promote a big brothers of America, an organization which aids wayward boys. Ladies in evening gowns and men in black tie uniform will pay $25 each to dine on the terrace—an outdoor night club and watch the fight.

Should it rain, festivities will shift into the hotel's main ballroom.

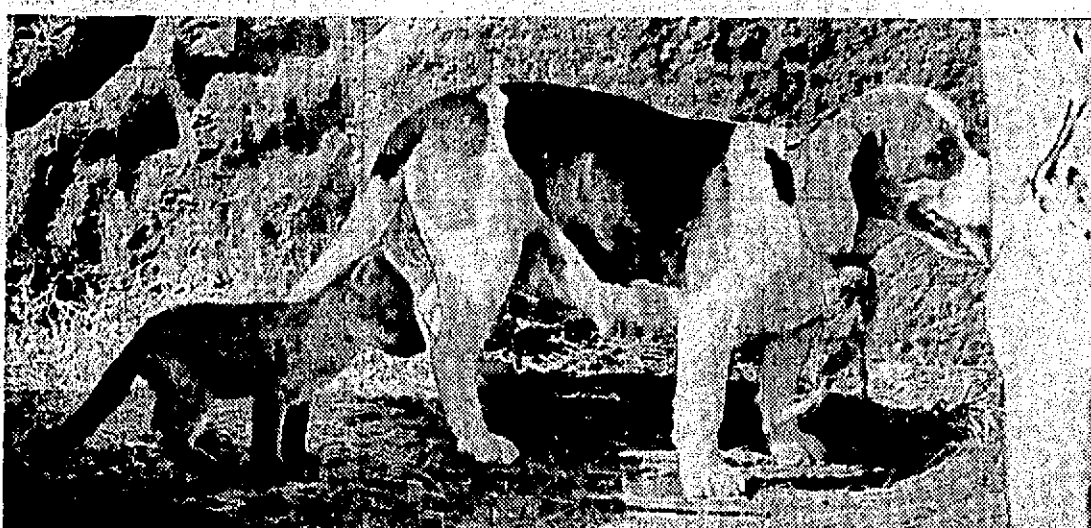

Giardello, a top-heavy favorite who culminated Sina earlier this year, is gunning for Ray Robinson's crown. He ranks second to Carmen Basilio among the current challengers.

Sina, a Bremen weightlifter who has been fighting since 1918, wants to avenge his defeat and simultaneously gain the ranking he now lacks. Sina last year beat Virgil Atkins, the now welterweight champion. He has won 24 all together, 23 by knockout, lost 18 and had 14 draws.

Giardello, unbeaten in his last 18 fights, has knocked 24 of his 26 opponents, lost 13, drawn with five and had one draw without a decision.

ABC will telecast at 10 p.m. EDT.

OUTFOXING NATURE—In defiance of its natural instincts, a beagle hound owned by Joe Pollard of the Union Hill community in Independence County, Ark., recently "kidnaped" a young gray fox from a litter in a hollow log and is raising the animal. National Loop Pennant Race Poses a Mystery

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That National League pennant race has become a mystery of reluctant leaders.

San Francisco still holds the lead, although a 5-4 defeat by Pittsburgh Tuesday night was the Giants' 10th in 14 games. Milwaukee, second by half a game and .003 percentage points, stayed put, blowing a 5-1 lead in a 9-6 defeat by the persistent Chicago Cubs.

The Braves now have lost five straight—the first time since early September 1936.

Philadelphia kept Los Angeles in the cellar with a 3-2 victory in the only other game played. Rain held the American League schedule to three games. Cleveland beat Baltimore 10-2 and the Chicago White Sox split a two-night pair at Washington, winning the opener 5-4 then losing 5-2.

Right-hander Bob Friend became the first NL pitcher to win nine this season, getting home run help from R. C. Stearns, Bob Skinner and Frank Thomas while handing the Giants their third consecutive defeat with an eight-hitter. Friend has lost four.

The Cubs hammered southpaw Warren Spahn (9-2) for five home runs. Ernie Banks, the NL RBI (52) and home run leader, hit his 18th with two on. Bobby Thomson smacked a pair and Dale Long and Cal Neenan each hit one, with Neenan's the clincher in the sixth. Glen Hobbie won his fourth in relief of Dick Pratt.

The Phillies ended the Dodgers' winning string at three breaking a 1-1 tie with a fifth-inning pair that handed winless Don Newcombe his fifth defeat. An error, Richie Ashburn's triple and a single by Solly Humus got the job done as rookie Ray Sempron won his sixth.

Charlie Neal drove in both Dodgers runs, one with his 10th homer.

Players With Little Notice Lead Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) —

Three contenders who gained scant notice in pre-tournament speculation led 32 of the nation's best amateur women golfers into the first round of the 28th annual Trans-Mississippi Tournament today.

In yesterday's qualifying play over the Hickory Hills Country Club Course, 19-year-old Barbara Williams, of Richmond, Calif., Frances Rich of Bainbridge, Ga., and Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., of Indianapolis tied for medalist. Each shot 74, two over Hickory Hills' par of 3636-72. The course measures 6,203 yards.

Defending champion, Mrs. James Ferrie of Gardena, Calif., shot a 77, as did Jo Anne Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash., the National Women's Amateur, and Intercollegiate champion, Mrs. Ferrie is favored to repeat, and Miss Gunderson is expected to be her strongest challenger. Another pre-tourney favorite, Mrs. William Hartson of Piedmont, Calif., barely won a berth in the championship flight with an 81.

Nine of the 130 golfers who turned in qualifying scores tied at 82, forcing a two-hole playoff for the last two positions in the championship flight. Mary Ann Bowney of Baltimore and Joyce Denson of Atlanta won the playoff.

The tournament finals are scheduled Saturday.

Best evening since coming to the Pelicans from Denver of the American Assn. He homered with the bases loaded in the first inning and added another roundtripper in the eighth, driving in five runs as the Pelicans downed Chattanooga 7-5.

Both Carroll belts cleared the left-field screen at New Orleans City Park Stadium at the 354-foot mark, so they weren't exactly pop flies as some of the 250-foot drives down the foul line have been Carroll is hitting at a .338 clip since arriving in the Southern Assn.

Little Rock rallied for two runs in the last of the 12th inning and shaded the front running Atlanta Crackers 2-1. Dick Stigman threw a three-hitter in Mobbers 5-0, and diet over Nashville, and Memphis topped Birmingham 5-2 behind Glen Stabenfeldt.

New Orleans batted around in the first inning and routed Chattanooga starter Ted Abernathy. The warblers turned out the Pels needed both Carroll homers.

Chattanooga rallied for the runs in the ninth before Walt Koller could shut out the Guy Monday drove in two of the last three Lock out runs.

Lions Entertain Older Men of the County

The annual fish supper for men 70 years old or older in the county and Prescott trade area was given on Thursday evening by the Prescott Lions Club at the Legion Hut. Approximately 160 were present.

Each one was served a pound of fried catfish, French fried potatoes, coffee and a dessert. The invocation was given by Rev. J. E. Bannister.

Pete McCain aged 95 and Warren Regan age 90 were presented gifts for being the oldest men present.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by the caney community choir. Due to illness the Emmet choir was unable to attend. A well planned evening of fellowship came to a close with the choir singing "God Be With You 'Till We meet again."

Methodist Church is Scene Of Manville-Scott Wedding
An announcement of interest to friends here is that made by Mr. and Mrs. Brad Scott of Little Rock of the marriage of their daughter Miss Helen Ruth Scott, to James Griswald Manville, son of Mrs. Charles W. Manville of Mount Ida and the late Mr. Manville at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 7 in Pulaski Heights Methodist Church.

Baskets of majestic daisies, gladioli and gardenias were interspersed with palms and lighted tapers. Mrs. Al Mabry of Houston, Tex., aunt of the bride, was soloist, accompanied by Miss Mary Ann Spotts, organist. Mr. Scott gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was gown in Chantilly lace and tulle. The bodice featured a sabrina neckline with sequin and pearl embroidery and the floor-length skirt was of alternating tulle and lace ruffles with a lace panel forming a brush train. Her veil was caught to a jeweled cofalet and she carried an orchid and lilies of the valley on a Bible. Miss Mary Agnes Scott was her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Hunter Scott of Prescott, cousin of the bride, and Miss Sue Wood of Russellville. They wore sheaths of white lace over pink taffeta with matching velvet headresses studded with pearls and carried crescents of pale pink marguerites.

Richard A. Blake of Fayetteville was best man. Ushers were Bill Bert Dooly and William E. Barksdale of Fort Smith, Charles Gary Standridge of Mount Ida and Larry G. Stephens of Hot Springs.

Assisting at a reception in the church parlor were Miss Lana Douthitt, in charge of the bride's book, Miss Rosemary Ridgill, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. Thomas Smith Jr., of Pine Bluff, Mrs. Don Henderson, Mrs. Tommy Naugher, Mrs. Bill Hugueley and Miss Sandy Ramsey of Fort Smith. Ann and Linda Scott, cousins of the bride, distributed rice bags.

The bride traveled in a blue pique sheath with white lace jacket and accessories and an orchid corsage. After a trip along the Gulf Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Manville will be at home in Little Rock. In September they will attend the University.

Among those from Prescott attending were Mrs. B. H. Scott, Miss Margaret Hunter Scott, Miss Linda Scott, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gordon and Mrs. S. B. Scott.

Kimberling River Bridge to Be Used

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Army Engineers expect to begin rerouting traffic across the old Kimberling bridge on Missouri State Highway

13 in Table Rock Reservoir about July 1.

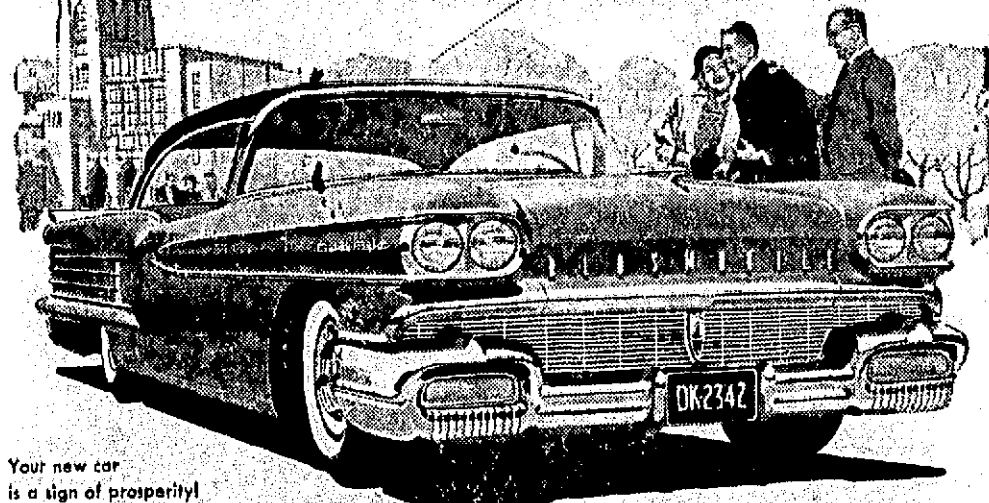

Col. A. M. Jacoby, Little Rock district engineer, said opening the old bridge will permit paving of approaches to the new Kimberling bridge. High water had prevented use of the old bridge.

Jacoby said the reservoir water level has been dropping about two feet a day. The new Kimberling crossing project is expected to be completed by late this summer, Jacoby said.

Much has been written in recent months about the plight of the railroads.

Congress was so concerned that Senate and House transportation committees held exhaustive hearings to determine the cause and find a cure for the problem. Representatives of shipper associations and all transportation and government agencies were heard.

Briefly and principally the Congressional committees came to this conclusion: Too much government regulation of the railroads as contrasted with the other agencies of transportation. The committees proposed a number of changes in the law that will materially correct this unfair situation.

One of the principal proposals would permit the railroads to exercise their inherent advantage as the low cost, volume transportation carrier by pricing their only commodity—transportation—in competition with other carriers so long as their rates return a profit and do not discriminate between shippers and markets.

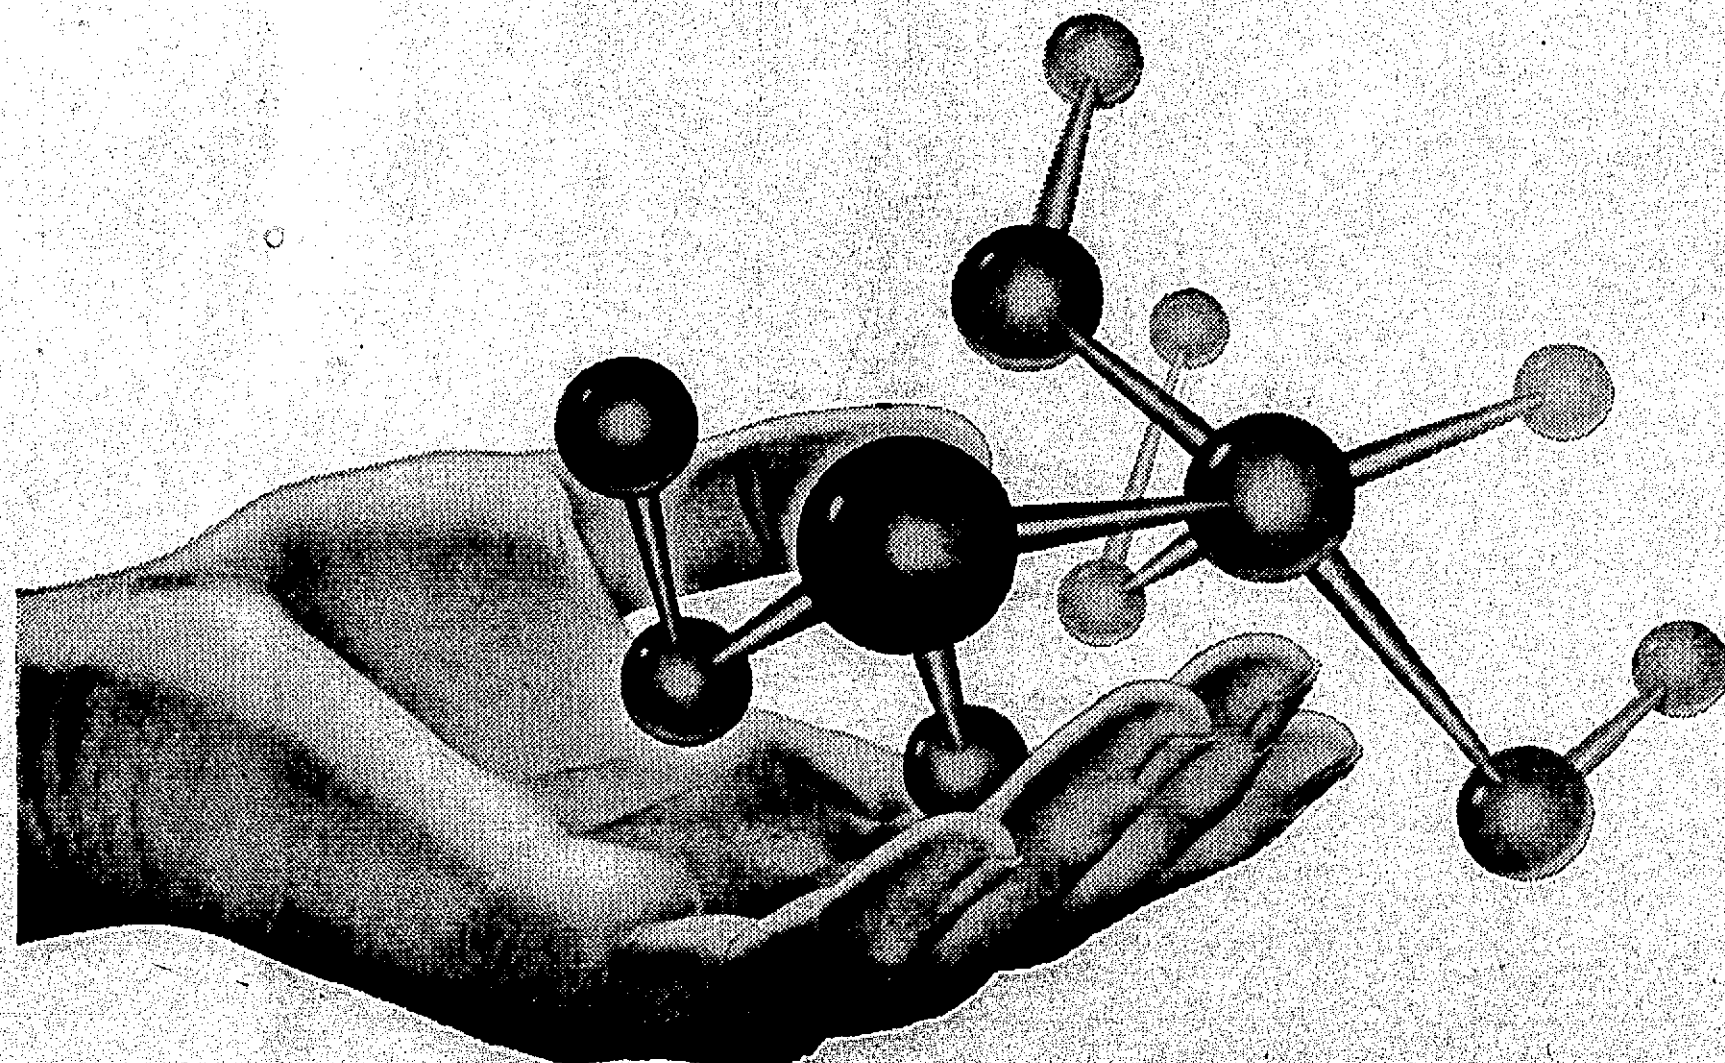

These conclusions, which we believe are sound and in the public interest, are now before the Congress.

If you believe in justice and fair play, write your Senators and Congressmen to support the transportation legislation now before the Congress.

THE TIME IS SHORT—ACT NOW!

ANOTHER FIRST FROM ESSO RESEARCH

ATOMIC RESEARCH CREATES A NEW KIND OF GASOLINE!

How the science of atoms solved a problem:

One of the most important applications of industrial atomic research to date is the creation of a completely new premium gasoline, New Formula Esso Extra. For the first time, atomic science was used to identify the elements in gasoline which form injurious deposits in your engine. Next, brand-new refining procedures were used which remove these components during the refining process. This has made possible an entirely new kind of premium gasoline—another first from Esso Research!

How this benefits your car—your pocketbook:

Under all around driving conditions, you'll find New Formula Esso Extra outperforms other premiums costing 1¢ and 2¢ more. It is the cleanest premium you can buy. It actually reduces deposits left in your engine, gives more mileage per dollar, and better performance over the whole wide range of gasoline values. We believe that New Formula Esso Extra will change your ideas about premium gasoline performance. Try it soon for "Happy Motoring!"
